This is to certify that Arya Rajeshirke has worked with our R&D team on the project to Improve Coffee Quality Preservation. In this project his objective was Coffee Density Retention process development during Automatic Coffee Filling Line designing.

Arya Rajeshirke, a student of Garodia International College, Mumbai was introduced to us by Aaksh Beverages Pvt Ltd (ABPL) as intern for his college project. Prior to this project, he was deeply involved in the business processes from previous few years. Hence he was well aware with objectives, multiple challenges and limitations faced by ABPL with respect to physical damages happening to coffee during the process.

Before the start of our development, ABPL has clearly defined their objective of coffee quality preservation. Hence, it was necessary that both, we as well as ABPL needed to work closely, conduct trials and collate data in this regards. Arya was given the primary responsibility to do the needful. He was not only involved in this, but also gave good suggestions, which helped ABPL to get the results which were expected.

Arya is a dedicated student who works on assigned tasks dedicatedly and goes deep to the root cause. He understands basic issues and try to get the solution. His understanding, consistent approach will definitely help him as well others to meet goals.

Thank You and Best Regards
